

Proposed target architecture, not the current implementation. Build the core flow before optional stages.

Micrometer metrics can be read locally or scraped directly. The Collector and centralized backends are optional.

Trace links and IDs connect diagnostics; PostgreSQL remains the source of durable instruction and audit facts.